Reviews

An incredibly awesome publication with perfect and lucid reasons. It can be written in simple phrases and not confusing. I am just delighted to let you know that this is actually the very best publication I actually have studied during my very own lifestyle and could be the best publication for actually.

Excerpt: .is average; veal is 1,790, leg of lamb is 1,300, and mutton is 1,085. It is possible with the aid of this illustration to make up a substantial ration which will be not only economical, but which is scientifically designed. The sample menus illustrated for breakfast, lunch and dinner give a fairly good key to the arrangement. The Rule of Reason Little drops of water, Tiny grains of sand; Make the mighty ocean--And the wondrous land. Little careless actions, Small seeds of neglect; Make human suffering--And hearts with grief beset. Thus it is that little things make the joys and sorrows of life. Rules cannot govern every little action, every little deed. But common sense, let us call it the rule of reason, will, if cultivated, bridge many a treacherous stream. These lines, artistically illustrated, form the introduction to the dramatic new film produced by the Safety Department of the New York Central Lines, and given its premier at the Rialto Theater, in New York City, on July 31st. The new film story is entitled The Rule of Reason. It was written by Mr. Marcus A. Dow, General Safety Agent of the New York Central Lines, and produced under his personal supervision. Like Steve Hill s Awakening and The House that Jack Built, also written by Mr. Dow, this new picture is full of dramatic incidents that drive home a safety lesson, applicable not only to railroads but to every industry where hazards exist....
