Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: the sides and back, and open in front, the hearth also being of brick though this need not be carried out beyond the line of the brick walls. At a height of five feet above the floor, the front of the recess is closed-in by an arch and the eight-inch brick wall carried up on all four sides to a height of about two feet above the loft floor, where the space is topped off by a horizontal stone flag with a hole cut in the center. Just below this, in one side of the brickwork, can be set a register. The smoke-pipe from the heater is carried up inside of the brickwork and through the stone flag above to second floor, where it terminates, the brickwork above this point being narrowed down to the dimensions of an ordinary flue and carried out through the roof. The radiation from the heater is amply sufficient to heat the harness-room, and enough surplus heat goes up in the brick recess and from the smoke-pipe to supply heat for the man s room in the loft. A New Departure in Sewage-Treatment. The place where this departure has been taken is Sutton, England, and the account of it from which the following description has been prepared appeared in the the Sanitary Record (Dec. 1i). The experiment was made under advice of Mr. W. J. Dibdin, chemist to the London county council, and by consent of the Sutton urban council. Mr....
